CHEP certified as 2025 Top Employer in Saudi Arabia

Riyadh, 24 January 2025: CHEP, part of the Brambles Group and a global leader in supply chain solutions, has been honoured for the fifth time as a 'Top Employer' in Saudi Arabia by the Top Employers Institute. Furthermore, CHEP is among an exclusive group of 17 elite organisations worldwide to achieve the prestigious Global Top Employer certification for the third consecutive year.

CHEP's recognition as a Top Employer highlights its exemplary human resources policies and commitment to fostering a workplace culture that champions employee wellbeing, professional development, and job satisfaction. This certification underscores CHEP's dedication to maintaining global standards of excellence in human resources practices.

Brambles' Chief People Officer, Lucy Knight, said: "As an employer of 13,000 people around the world, we are deeply proud to receive the Global Top Employer certification for the third year. It is powerful acknowledgement of our continued focus to create a workplace with inclusion, opportunity and purpose at its core.

"The recognition is also a credit to our employees who have embraced our values and vision, are motivated by the wider positive impact of their work, and each day enrich our culture through their experience, spirit of collaboration and dedication to our customers," she said.

In addition to its Global Top Employer certification, CHEP also maintained Top Employer status in four regions (Africa, Asia-Pacific, Europe, Latin America) and 26 countries, covering 97% of its workforce.

Chris Veerasamy, Regional Lead for Middle East and Türkiye added, "This achievement highlights the exceptional dedication and passion our employees bring to the business every day. Their commitment fosters a positive culture of growth and collaboration, strengthening our success and enabling us to lead with purpose. It reinforces our commitment to promoting a workplace that values performance excellence, embraces agility and champions effective leadership. Being named a Top Employer motivates us to continually enhance our environment, ensuring it remains a beacon of innovation, growth, and employee satisfaction in Saudi Arabia and beyond. We deeply appreciate their invaluable contributions of our employees."

The Top Employers Institute programme certifies organisations based on the participation and results of their HR Best Practices Survey covering six domains across 20 topics. CHEP's high scores, which improved on its 2024 performance across the board, reflected the breadth and maturity of its workplace programme. Notable areas of strength and outperformance included how the company was shaping the employee experience through organisational design and the workplace environment, and uniting employees through its purpose and values, sustainability approach and commitment to ethics and integrity.

Top Employers Institute CEO David Plink says: "In a time of constant change—where technological, economic, and social shifts are ever-present—exceptional times bring out the best in people and organisations. This year's Top Employers Certification Programme has showcased this strength, with the certified Top Employers for 2025 demonstrating outstanding dedication to their employees globally. Their consistent commitment to people practices worldwide makes them stand out as an exclusive group who have earned global Certification through the Top Employers Programme. We are proud to celebrate these companies and their achievements in 2025.”
